

Building On History, Moving Into the Future

Representing clients with ability and integrity in Central Illinois

Founded in 1946 by attorneys James G. Thomas and Wallace Mulliken, the Champaign law firm of Thomas, Mamer & Haughey ranks as one of the top firms in Central Illinois. Today the named partners of Lott H. Thomas, Stuart M. Mamer, and Roger E. Haughey continue the work, as they have together since 1962. As the needs of clients have changed, the firm has succeeded by adjusting to those needs.

The key elements of this long running success are people—among the best in their respective fields—carefully and specifically chosen for the expertise they bring to the firm’s practice and clients. Thomas, Mamer & Haughey’s attorneys each concentrate in three to four specific areas of law, and the firm can accommodate most legal service requests. They share the firm’s long-standing commitment to provide a complete range of services in a timely manner at a fair price.

With 9 of its 18 attorneys designated as “Leading Lawyers,” the firm has recognized expertise to offer clients in multiple practice areas and has enjoyed remarkably low turnover over the years. This assurance of consistency to clients provides confidence that legal matters will be handled by the same attorneys from start to finish, with maximum efficiency.

To better utilize each attorney’s specific areas of concentration, the attorneys at Thomas, Mamer & Haughey work together to achieve the best possible results for each client. The innate value in this continual sharing of ideas, opinions, and counsel has always been an important part of the firm philosophy.

This team approach is a trait that has made Thomas, Mamer & Haughey the respected law firm it is today—and an attribute that is assuring its place for tomorrow.
